By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian and Chinese tanks are reported poised on a bleak Himalayan plateau for an expected showdown battle over a strategic Indian airfield on the western end of the rugged Himalayan front.

India flew light tanks to the nearly three-mile high Chushul airstrip in Ladakh, informed sources reported, to counter a Communist tank-reinforced buildup across the disputed border at Rudok in Tibet.

Communist tanks were seen only a few miles from the airstrip, an Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said.

The airfield is the only one the Indians have in the area and is vital to their supply line.

Only sporadic shelling and rifle fire were reported Friday in the northeastern sector of the frontier battle line where the Chinese have paused after early advances that threatened the thickly populated Assam Plains.

Both sides have reinforced their positions in Ladakh in the last 11 days.

Indian outposts in the area were overrun by Communist tanks in the initial Chinese offensive Oct. 20 and the Chinese surged swiftly toward Chushul, gaining control of all but 500 square miles of the 15,000-square mile Ladakh area.

Chinese troops were reported armed with Soviet-made AK47 automatic rifles, which are roughly comparable to the U.S. Army's M14s.

Unlike the steep mountain terrain in most of Ladakh, the frontier between Chushul and Rudok is fairly flat and barren, making tank warfare possible.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the U.S. airlift of light military arms that began last Saturday should be completed by Monday.

Department officials said India had not submitted any requests for additional weapons, but authorities here said U.S. Brig. Gen. John E. Kelly was due from Washington over the weekend to discuss further aid.

Prime Minister Nehru told a meeting of civil servants the government has started making automatic weapons that should be available in large quantities by next month.

AEA Undecided on Financing

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Association has "no plans at the moment" as to how it will proceed now that its school financing proposal has been defeated.

"We will have some proposals to submit to the 1963 legislature," said Hubert Blanchard, assistant executive secretary of the organization.

"But we had not planned beyond the election and we do not know exactly what we will do," he added.

The AEA worked for adoption of an initiative act which would have allocated 50 per cent of general state revenues to public schools. It was beaten decisively in Tuesday's general election.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said in a news conference today that public education will present one of the big financing problems next year.

Cross Approves Two Mill Tax

WYNNE, Ark. (AP)—Cross County voters approved a two mill tax proposal in the general election Tuesday to construct a $467,000 courthouse in Wynne.

The tax will furnish half of the sum needed for the construction. The remainder will come from the public works acceleration act.

Voters approved the measure in two sections. The first proposal, asking permission to build the facility, passed 1,173 to 719. The second, assessing the tax, passed 910-896.

Weather

Total 1962 precipitation through October, 43.38 inches; during the same period a year ago, 46.46 inches.

Clear to partly cloudy and a little warmer today and tonight.

Cliff Hanger in Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP)—State Police guarded ballots and voting machines across the state today as both candidates in the cliff-hanger contest for governor took out recount petitions.

Endicott Peabody, the Democratic nominee and apparent winner, in an unofficial count, by a scant 2,163 votes out of nearly 2.1 million, took out his recount petitions Thursday about the time Republican Gov. John A. Volpe disclosed he had begun the quest for the required signatures.

The final unofficial tabulation gave Peabody 1,049,549 and Volpe 1,047,386.

Filing of recount petitions must wait for the official tabulation of the votes by the State Election Division, which probably will complete the task next week.

Pilot Fined for Entertaining Gals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has fined 13 airline pilots for "inattention to flight duty," and ordered Eastern Air Lines to draw up a plan to make sure it doesn't happen again.

The fines, ranging from $300 to $600, stemmed from a congressional investigation which brought to light candid cockpit photographs—some showing pilots asleep, reading or with stewardesses in their laps, others of stewardesses at the controls of airplanes.

A former Eastern flight engineer testified at the congressional hearing that he took the pictures of 14 pilots on 18 Eastern flights between May, 1959 and June, 1961.

The FAA said "there is reason to believe that the pictures were taken on the flights indicated. The information also supports the allegation that there were violations of the civil air regulations, specifically lack of vigilance on the part of the crews."

"The pictures do suggest that there may have been a pattern of cockpit conduct during this time," the FAA added in a letter imposing the fines against nine flight captains and four co-pilots. The FAA did not release their names.

May Be a First in Jurisprudence

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—This may be a "first" in American jurisprudence—the prosecuting attorney is going to make the defense attorney's speech.

It's not really a trial, though William Tallman, who plays the prosecuting attorney on the "Perry Mason" television series, is going to make a speech today scheduled to be delivered by Raymond Burr, who plays attorney Mason.

Burr was to address the Mid-South Conference of the American Bar Association today, but bar officials here said he became ill and Tallman would make his speech.

Margaret's Hairdo Is Exciting

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's new hair-do—probably the most exciting she's ever worn—had them all talking.

"It can't be all her own," gasped one woman over the noise of the ballroom band.

"Of course it isn't," chimed in another in a loud stage whisper. But they were wrong.

Every royal hair of the hairdo belonged to the pretty princess. It was a Grecian hair-do. With a shape-revealing pink gown, she wore it to Thursday night's sparkling Dockland Settlements Ball.

The Mayfair set sponsors the ball to aid one of her royal highness's favorite charities, the money going to clubs for the aged, the young and other welfare organizations in London's dockland area.

The ends, however, curled back on the long and shapely royal neck.

Camden Man Dies in Wreck

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Orvin R. Smith, 51, of Camden, a Ouachita County mechanic, was killed Thursday when a truck he was greasing in the county highway shop fell on him.

His body was found by M. C. Hamaker, a night watchman, when he came on duty. Smith had been working alone on the truck.

BLASTS PRESS — Richard Nixon holds his "last press conference" in Los Angeles where he admitted defeat in his race for the governorship of California. Nixon made bitter references to his treatment by the press, saying he was going to take a long holiday, and that now newsmen "would not have Nixon to kick around."

Old Cottage Organ, Only Recently Re-conditioned, Is a Prized Possession

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Mrs. W. R. Alexander has a prize possession of which she is understandably proud. It is a small pump organ which used to be referred to as a Cottage Organ. What makes it so valuable to her is the fact that her father bought it for her when she was only nine years of age.

For many years it was in the hands of relatives in Missouri. Then, in 1937 it was brought to Hope, but, alas! it was stored and no one was able to admire its beauty of appearance or sound until recently when it was completely re-built by Guy Griggs.

In examining this beautiful instrument, which has been finished in natural walnut, several things catch the eye. Immediately, the viewer notices the short keyboard, about half the length of a standard piano, and there is only one of them.

Close scrutiny will show a Wells Fargo tag on the inside of the instrument, and that is enough to make this a rarity in anyone's book. The little organ has eight stops, is only 44 inches wide, and stands approximately five feet high, including the decorative piece on top of it.

It isn't known for sure, but probably the Wells Fargo express tag was acquired in shipments in Missouri. Thank goodness, the tags were not removed from the organ, because they tell a story in themselves. One of the tags bears the date, 1879, so it is known that the instrument is at least that old. When Mrs. Alexander's father bought it, he purchased it second-hand, so there is no way of knowing for sure its exact age.

Has it always been in a home? No, indeed. In approximately 1901 one of Mrs. Alexander's grandmothers organized the Flat River, Mo., Baptist Church, and the organ was moved into the church for use in its services. Mrs. Alexander, who was Miss Taylor then, played for Sunday School and church services.

Later, it was in an aunt's home for several years, and Mrs. Alexander taught the aunt's children how to play it. For many years it was not in use but stayed in an uncle's home.

When the renovation of the little organ, which was built in Vermont, is completed, it will again take a revered place in a local home. To make it complete, a screw-type, adjustable stool with a tapestry or needle point covering has been added.

If you want to see the little instrument, maybe you had better contact the little lady who owns it. She has been in Miami, Fla., visiting her daughter, Miss Martha Ann Alexander, but is expected home soon. Incidentally, this daughter is probably responsible for her mother's renewed interest in the walnut organ.

Legislation to Regulate Traffic

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office has told State Police that legislation will be necessary to allow state institutions to regulate traffic around their own buildings.

State Police Capt. Melvin DeLong said his agency was interested in the institutions using their own security forces for traffic problems so State Police could spend more time on the highways.

At present, State Police are called to institutions to clear fire lanes and perform other traffic chores.

Bond Suit Filed in Lafayette Co.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three Lafayette County taxpayers have appealed to the state Supreme Court the outcome of an election in which voters approved a $210,000 industrial bond issue.

The taxpayers, C. C. Adams, J. T. Stewart and J. L. Pritchard contend that County Judge J. M. Tackett did not have his court legally in session March 7 when he ordered the election and April 11 when he declared the bond issue passed.

Lafayette Circuit Court refused to quash the orders on the election and the taxpayers appealed from that court. White & Co., Inc., which would lease the property for industrial use has joined the suit as an intervenor.

The vote was 1,205 for the bond issue to 83 against.

Americans Vote for the Personality

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American electorate's demonstrated disdain for party labels in Tuesday's election indicates Republicans may need a personality-plus candidate in 1964.

It just happened in the ballot box that the Republicans who won the big one are just that, voters. They have the kind of fresh, voter appeal that is credited with helping make John F. Kennedy a headline winner in 1960. And no one is doubting that the President will seek re-election in another two years.

The GOP stars in an otherwise confusing and somewhat frustrating election that ended in almost a numerical dead heat in congressional and gubernatorial contests were:

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an omnivorous blintze-consuming, hand-shaking, back-clapping campaigner who is mentally quick on his feet and knows the ways of television. By getting himself re-elected by nearly half a million votes Rockefeller leaped to the top of the heap of Kennedy's potential GOP rivals.

Gov.-elect George Romney of Michigan, an indefatigable campaigner who charmed some union votes away from the Democrats to win his race in a key state. Possibly somewhat less liberal than Rockefeller, he may attract support from party conservatives who look on the New York governor as too inclined to the welfare state to suit them.

Gov.-elect William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, a very wealthy man just getting his feet wet in bigtime politics. He is a handsome, all-smiles candidate who can be a tough campaigner if the occasion demands it.

In the second line, as prospective material for a vice presidential nomination, two young GOP crusaders came to the front.

They are Robert Taft Jr., son of the late "Mr. Republican," who won election to Congress in an at-large race in Ohio, and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, who won re-election while the voters of his state were giving another term to Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse.

The central performer in the GOP's greatest disappointment, the failure to attain the governorship of California, was Richard M. Nixon, familiar again in bitter defeat.

Nixon bowed out of politics with a denunciation of the press and the acerbic comment: "You won't have Nixon to kick around any longer."

Half of Soviet Missiles Are Enroute Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than half the 40-odd Soviet missiles secretly installed in Cuba are reported on their way back to Russia. The rest are due to be headed home by Monday night.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev is also understood to be pulling out several thousand military technicians assigned to the Cuban rocket bases.

But there were indications the end of the U.S. blockade may not be soon.

Khrushchev's cleanup of the known missile sites—and at an unexpected speed—coincides with the apparent end of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's mission to Havana.

U.S. officials now take it Mikoyan has failed in any effort he may have made to pressure Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro into accepting international inspection to verify removal of the missiles and dismantling of the bases.

In Havana, Mikoyan was reported to have conferred again Friday night with Castro after having spent Thursday touring collective farms with him. But Washington officials believe Mikoyan may leave this weekend.

So far as President Kennedy is concerned, officials said, this assumed failure of Mikoyan means Khrushchev will not live up to that part of his Cuba crisis agreement that called for international verification.

Kennedy, informants added, plans to maintain a prolonged naval blockade and aerial surveillance of the island to safeguard against any new sneak Soviet operation.

The missiles were loaded as deck cargo and photographs made public showed eight on one ship and six on each of two other vessels.

Newsmen aboard a Navy patrol plane Friday night saw an American destroyer sweep in beside the Soviet freighter Anosov, catch it in the glare of a powerful search light and by signals arrange to inspect it after daybreak today.

"We have arranged an inspection without boarding," the destroyer Barry reported by radio. This will include a closeup view by daylight and photographs, the inspection pattern reported to have been followed Friday.

The Anosov appeared to be heavily loaded with military equipment, including what looked like eight missiles.

The Soviet government had agreed to let the ships be checked by the Navy so that the United States would know that missiles were going back across the Atlantic.

It was reported here that nine Soviet ships would be involved in a rocket retreat from Cuba and the Soviet government has informed Washington the operation would be finished by Monday night.

Anti-Trust Suit Filed in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An appeal for less restrictive anti-trust laws and less concern about bigness in business was made to Arkansas businessmen Wednesday by Carter L. Burgess, 45, president of American Machine and Foundry Co.

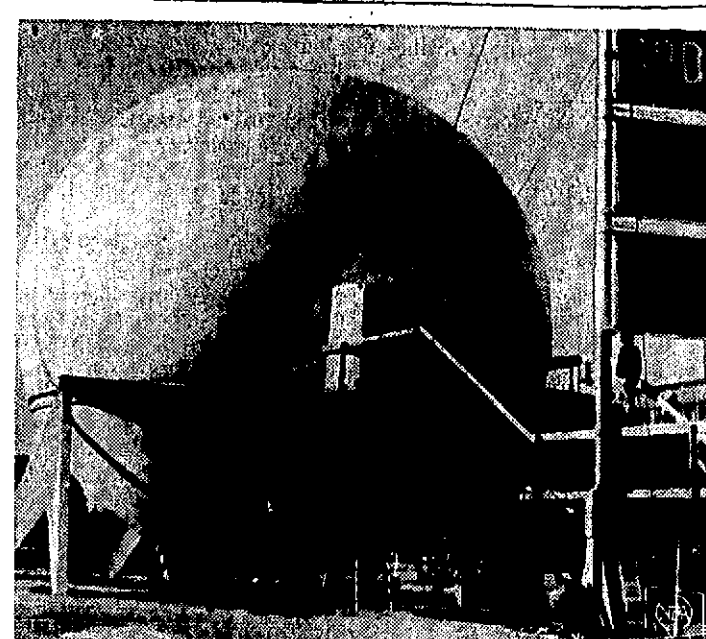

Burgess was speaker at the closing session of the 34th annual meeting of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Industries of Arkansas, Inc.

"The administration and 'wide interpretation' of anti-trust laws in recent years have 'created an air of discouragement and unnecessary limitation to business,' rather than encouraging it," he said.

Burgess said the nation does not need to be alarmed at bigness in business, provided the business is honest and competitive.

AMF has a bicycle manufacturing plant in Little Rock.

"After all, there is big government, big labor, a big world and big space and I don't mind saying that AMF would like to be a lot bigger in Arkansas," he said.

Senate Still to Question Billie Sol

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

P Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations Subcommittee said today it still plans to quiz the bankrupt financier Billie Sol Estes despite his convention in Texas on swindling charges.

Chairman Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the subcommittee has sent no date for Estes' appearance as perhaps the final witness in its now recessed hearings.

The subcommittee has been exploring allegations that political influence helped Estes to profit heavily from dealings with the government.

McClellan told a newsmen it will be up to the subcommittee to decide at some subsequent meeting, however, whether to extend the scope of its inquiry much farther in light of the fact Estes has been convicted and sentenced to eight years in the Texas State Penitentiary.

Estes' lawyers have announced that they will appeal the conviction.

The Texas jury found Estes guilty on charges involving the mortgaging of fertilizer storage tanks the prosecution contended did not exist.

McClellan said he still believes it is essential that Estes be called by the subcommittee to testify at an appropriate time.

"He should be given an opportunity to testify so our record will reflect whether he chooses to answer questions or invoke his constitutional privilege to decline certain questions," McClellan said.

"Unless he answers our questions his appearance of course would be anticlimactic, but giving him the opportunity to answer is something which must be done."

Jack the Ripper Scare in Indiana

CHARLESTOWN, Ind. (AP)—The scare of a "Jack the Ripper" slayer increased today in this area where three young women have been found dead in recent months.

The latest victim, found Thursday, was mutilated in a fashion reminiscent of the killer who roamed London's White Chapel District in the 1890s and never was caught.

The victim was Anita Christine Barmore, 21. She was a friend of the second victim, Nancy Webb, 21, killed a month ago. Both had worked in Louisville, Ky., taverns.

The body of the first girl, Julia Ann Dawson, 22, was found May 21, south of here near Jeffersonville. Her body was decomposed and a coroner ruled she died of an overdose of a pain-killing drug. Miss Webb had been beaten and strangled.

Coroner Edwin Coats said Miss Barmore apparently was strangled. All three girls were from Louisville.

Louisville police said there was a possible link between the slayings but nothing definite had been established.

Film Producer Has Surgery

ROME (AP)—Film producer Carlo Ponti, husband of actress Sophia Loren, underwent a two-hour plastic operation today to prevent scars from cuts on his right ear and face suffered in an airplane mishap.

Ponti was one of 17 passengers hurt Tuesday when a Paris-Rome jet airliner hit an air pocket over the Alps. The plastic surgeons said the operation was successful and Ponti's condition was excellent.

Albanians Lay Blame to Khrushchev

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

P Special Correspondent

Who is "the sworn enemy of the Socialist camp and the international Communist and worker's movement?"

Who prevents "the friends of the U.S. . . from profiting by the great benefits of Soviet science?"

Who is a traitor, a "renegade anti-Marxist?"

According to Enver Hoxha, boss of the Albanian Communist party, the culprit is Nikita S. Khrushchev.

And that seems to mean that the rift between the Soviet Communist party and the Red Chinese has become even deeper, and that there is division and confusion in the world Communist camp.

One of the reasons for the widening of the chasm appears to be Khrushchev's performance in the recent Cuban crisis. But there is more to it than that, and Hoxha seems to have let the cat out of the bag.

Hoxha has been quarantined by Moscow's ruling Communists for disagreeing with Khrushchev and siding with the Red Chinese in the squabble within the world Communist movement. He has just let go with the most violent blast yet launched by any Communist leader against the Soviet premier.

Little, isolated Albania's economy is choking because of a Moscow blue embargo. Hoxha made the new attack this week at a Tirana meeting of professional workers. A partial text of the diatribe has just become available in this country.

Ordinarily Communists are careful about exposing the real sources of their troubles. But Hoxha appears to have been a little careless. According to him, Khrushchev is guilty of a whole list of sins.

Here are some of Khrushchev's transgressions in the eyes of the Albanian Communists, which means also in the eyes of the Red Chinese:

Khrushchev believes there have been changes in capitalism and it no longer resembles the capitalism of which Marx wrote a century ago.

Khrushchev has revised Marxist-Leninist "revolutionary strategy and tactics" under what Hoxha calls "the pretext of new circumstances." This means the Soviet boss adopted the notion that it was dangerous to be actively involved in the so-called "national liberation movement," meaning the fomenting of revolutions which can be infiltrated and captured by Communists.

Khrushchev refuses to accept the Albanian-Chinese view that "the East wind is prevailing over the West wind" to such an extent that conditions are ripe for aggressive movement forward on all fronts.

Khrushchev, in the words of Hoxha, "prevents the friends of the U.S.S.R. from profiting from the great benefits of Soviet science, but he is generous to his revisionist friends (Tito of Yugoslavia) and to the scientists of capitalist countries."

It is obvious that this is a raw nerve with the Red Chinese, whom Hoxha and his party now extol as their only real friends in places of power.

Soviet science has refrained from aiding the Chinese to join the nuclear weapons club. The U.S.S.R. apparently has no desire to see Peiping possess the ability on its own to plunge the world—including the Soviet Union—into a thermonuclear holocaust.

Voting Over, Result in Few States Doubtful

By LARR YOSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The election is over but the battle of the ballot box continues, and residents of four states may not know who their next governor is for several weeks.

And two losing Republican Senate candidates from South Dakota and Alabama have indicated they may challenge the first count of ballots that showed their Democratic opponents ahead.

The gubernatorial battles are in Massachusetts, Minnesota, Maine and Rhode Island. As of Friday night, unofficial figures showed Republican incumbents to be ahead in Maine and Minnesota while Democrats held tenuous leads in Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

In Massachusetts, Endicott Peabody jumped further ahead when the official canvass of Boston and some revisions in other areas gave him a 3,668-vote margin over Republican Gov. John A. Volpe. Both have taken out recount papers. The official canvass is expected next week.

Two remote North Woods precincts—the last two to be heard from—added to Minnesota Gov. Elmer L. Andersen's unofficial lead, but a 100-vote error was discovered in one county and by nightfall Republican Andersen's edge over Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag had dwindled to 51 votes with about half of the state's 87 counties officially canvassed.

The Minnesota Canvassing Board won't declare a winner until Nov. 20. Then either side may ask for a recount.

The Rhode Island question probably won't be settled before Nov. 21. Democratic Gov. John A. Notte had a 47-vote lead over Republican John H. Chafee in the unofficial count Tuesday. But State Board of Elections employees won't start tackling some 5,000 absentee ballots until Monday.

About 1,400 of these absentee ballots are from servicemen with 500 or so more still expected. By state law they can't be opened until Nov. 21.

Reds Declare U.S. Plans Provocations

HAVANA (AP)—The Communist paper Hoy said today all indications are that the United States plans "more provocations and aggressions against the Cuban revolution."

It also accused President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela of being "the axis of new anti-Cuban conspiracy" in the Organization of American States.

In an editorial timed for a meeting of the OAS to consider Venezuela's charges of Cuban sabotage of oil installations, Hoy said Betancourt seeks armed intervention against Cuba.

Mr. Nixon Disregarded Own Slogans

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon carried two slogans around in his head for years: Be careful about a battle; and a good loser never gets angry at anyone but himself.

This week he disregarded both of them after he lost in his election bid to unseat California's Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown. It was a defeat which probably ends his political career.

Less than 10 minutes after admitting defeat, Nixon walked into a conference of about 100 newsmen and, in a rambling, bitter and sometimes almost incoherent way, denounced them for what he claimed was unfairness in covering his campaign.

Yet, 75 per cent of the California newspapers which took sides endorsed him.

The fear that sometimes after the battle he might be so tired that he would make a mistake in judgment has been on Nixon's mind for years. It comes out in the book he wrote this year about the "Six Crises" in his life.

But the book also shows that his feeling of unfair treatment by the press also goes away back. There is even an indication in it that he thinks newsmen are only fair to him when they are on his "team."

He repeats the following statement in one form or another: "The point of greatest danger for an individual confronted with a crisis is not during the period of preparation for battle, nor fighting the battle itself, but in the period immediately after the battle is over."

"Then, completely exhausted and drained emotionally, he must watch his decisions most carefully. Then there is an increasing possibility of an error because he may lack the necessary cushion of emotional and mental reserve which is essential for good judgment."

He even quotes his old college football coach, Chief Newman, on how to be a good loser. He considered Newman a "talented molder of character" and has him saying in the book:

"You must never be satisfied with losing. You must get angry, terribly angry, about losing. But the mark of a good loser is that he takes his anger out on himself and not on his victorious opponents or his teammates."

Nixon said: "I take the responsibility for losing, when he walked into the news conference but then, after praising his 100,000 volunteer workers, blamed them for not getting out enough votes. This, he said, cost him the election."

Nor was he gracious to Brown or President Kennedy who beat him for the White House in 1960. He called Brown the "people's choice" and said he hoped Brown's "leadership will now become more decisive."

He said he thought Kennedy could do all right in foreign policy "if he has his own way" but suggested the President get rid of those "woolly heads around him."

Nixon's greatest bitterness was towards the newsmen who, he said, kicked him around. But in his book he complained about unfair treatment even in 1952 when, running with President Eisenhower, he won the vice presidency.

He complained that while the top-light newsmen go around with the presidential candidates, only the lesser-known ones follow the would-be vice presidents. And he threw this complaint into his book, too: "While most newspaper publishers are Republicans, the majority of the working reporters are Democrats."

He indicated in his book his idea of how reporters should act when assigned to him, citing that 1952 campaign: "Going through the fire of crisis together had welded the members of my staff and several of the reporters into a high-spirited united team."

This could be taken to mean that unless reporters want to be on his team they must be against him. It doesn't seem to occur to him that a lot of newsmen wouldn't, and don't, play on anybody's team.

Theodore White, who coaxed both Nixon and Kennedy in the 1960 presidential race, has a different view of Nixon's relations with the press. He wrote a book on the 1960 campaign, "The Making of the President," which won the Pulitzer Prize.

White says Nixon and his staff "abused" the "sense of dignity of these men (who covered him) then not by accident but by design."

Time To Let Go

By HELEN WRDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: I am ashamed to go to my minister, relatives or neighbors. It's all about our foster daughter. We took her into our home when she was three. And we hoped it would be into our hearts, too, for she was born out of wedlock and forlorn as they come.

From the moment she arrived she was a problem: wilful, selfish and defiant. Folks said she'd outgrow her faults so we kept on trying to do our best by this changeling. She did everything possible to hurt me, breaking my glasses purposely when she knew I couldn't see without them, for example.

As she grew older we took her to church, bought her pretty clothes and tried to give her the sense of belonging. Things got out of hand when she entered her teens, for she was pretty. So, in addition to her, we had boys to cope with. She wanted to date a 14-year-old boy when she was 13, I refused and the boy threatened to knock me down. A year later they eloped. With the help of the boy's parents, we got the marriage annulled and the two back in high school.

Later, the boy's minister told me both were problem kids. If it hadn't been for my prayers, I couldn't have stood up under the worry. The boy's parents and we stuck together, battling it out with the kids and at last they graduated.

The boy enlisted in the Army with the understanding that when he returned, they'd be legally married. Well, he'd no sooner boarded the plane for training base than our girl married another fellow. We gave her a nice wedding — with misgivings in our hearts over the whole business.

They and his folks had a falling out in a couple of months, with each other and blaming me for the way I'd brought the girl up.

Am I supposed to go on the rest of my life taking more of the same? We own a farm and have about $40,000 in the bank and seven oil wells on our property — two being real gushers. Should we, after all this ingratitude on our foster daughter's part, make her our heir? My husband and I are both 58 and tired of all the hassling. — Disillusioned Foster Mother

Dear Disillusioned: It's time you and your husband indulged yourselves for a change. Go places, meet people, travel, buy good clothes, enjoy life. Don't hang around to pick up the pieces when the kids get in a jam. Give them a chance to mature by learning to work out their own problems.

However, when you adopted the girl you assumed the responsibility for caring for her. For that reason she shouldn't be cut off by your will. Have you any relatives? If so, your holdings might be equitably divided. Discuss this with your lawyer. Meanwhile, since you've done the best you know how for your foster daughter, let her go. Turn her over to her husband; say, "She's yours! Help her grow up!"

Dear Helen: I am married three years and in the United States two and a half years. Now my husband threatens to deport me claiming his love is dead. We live like strangers under the same roof. He has even said he intends to be unfaithful. This is breaking my heart for — God knows why — I love the man.

He refuses to let me divorce, saying he has his reputation to consider; therefore I must let matters remain as they are. Must I let my heart be torn asunder by this loveless marriage? I earn more than he and am amply able to support myself. I don't get my citizenship papers until next spring. — Forsaken, Olympia, Wash.

Dear Forsaken: If your husband loved you enough to make you his wife, there must be some definite reason for his love dying. Find out the cause. Marriage is a joint venture. Tell him so. Since you still love him, it might be worth trying to revive that love.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflets "Ideal Wife," "Ideal Husband," "Successful Marriage." Give the advice they contain a three-months' trial. If, at the end of that time, you still remain a wife in name only, talk to the judge of the local Domestic Relations Court. The Clerk of Courts at the State Capitol Building can direct you.

Dear Helen: You frequently say it's the wife's job to live within her husband's income. My husband makes $55 a week before taxes but the family business (he owns it with his mother) is dying on the vine and he soon may have to drop back to $45.

He is as variable as the wind; one day he is all for quitting and finding a better-paying job; the next he wakes up with a new idea for the business and is eager to stay. If he found the work congenial, I would accept his decision but he has to fight his mother every time he wants to make an improvement and he is all

The Artless Heiress

by Clarence Budington Kelland

Barbara and her duplicating machine made themselves busy with notices to the guests. Tomorrow would be Western Day, the formal opening of the season. There would be a cowboy orchestra. There would be a troupe of square dancers. There would be the Big Surprize.

Columbine regarded her attentively, and nodded her head affirmatively. "Am I in error in thinking you are attractive?" she asked.

"Children don't scream with terror when they see me," Barbara said dryly. "Strong men don't collapse."

"Why are you working here?" "Because," Barbara said, "I like to eat."

"Would you prefer to be married?" "Who wouldn't?" Barbara asked.

"Possibly I wouldn't," said Columbine thoughtfully. "Don't you," asked Barbara in her crackling voice, "ever dream? I mean vine-covered cottage and a yardful of brats and a man coming home at night simply quivering for lamb chops and pumpkin pie? The wild, pulsating passion aroused by watching a man who needs a shave read his evening newspaper?"

"I fear," Columbine said, "that I am inhibited."

Columbine was sitting in the office of her attorney. She had come seeking legal advice. She was wearing a tailored suit which fitted admirably and made it difficult for the attorney to keep his mind on jurisprudence. She sat in the client's chair primly, both feet on the floor, and, much to her surprise and somewhat to her consternation, she, too, found it difficult to keep her attention strictly upon the questions she had come to ask.

Suddenly she felt that her cheeks were hot. She had thought a thought that shocked her and made her flush. Never had her mind wandered in precisely this manner before. She found herself curious to know how it would feel if he suddenly pounced upon her and took her in his arms and crushed her lips against his.

"Very well, Miss Druggat," he said dryly. "Proceed to the next order of business."

"Is a rumor illegal?" she asked.

"If" he said "you bruted it about that the president of the bank had three wives and had embezzled a million dollars, it might be regarded as slanderous or actionable."

"But if it were whispered that you, for instance, were thinking seriously of fabricating — er — nutmeg graters on a large scale, would that be regarded as malicious mischief?"

"Even if it was hinted approximately where the factory would be?"

"I cannot see how anyone would be?"

Barbara, who had been doing some shopping, was waiting in the car. Her eyes were sardonic. "Was the legal advice satisfactory?" she asked in her clipped tones.

"Quite," Columbine answered. They drove out Central Avenue, once the town's finest residential street, but now garish with shops and gas stations and restaurants of ultramodern architecture. Presently they turned eastward, and then, as they stopped at the first red light, they saw just ahead of them a somewhat seedy car with a pudgy, clerical figure at the wheel and a thinner, almost cadaverous figure beside him. It was Martinus, and his ally, Professor Thumb. They were deep in conversation and did not become aware of the presence of the two girls so close behind them. Barbara let a couple of cars pass and, screened by them, kept pace with the two strange individuals. In a couple of miles the leading car turned left on an unpaved desert road.

Columbine looked at her watch. "It is still early," she said. "It can do no harm to find out why these men drive so straight out into the desert."

She heard Madame Roxy's raucous shout. "Hey, Father Pete!" she bawled, "come in save a couple of souls that's tottering on the brink! Fetch the learned professor with you!"

"Delighted, Madame Thistlebunt!" Martinus said unctuously. Columbine watched them fill their plates and return to the two women and squat beside them on the grass. Madame displayed her most ornate manners. "Susan, she said to Miss Flint, 'I wish the privilege of presentin' two of the doggedest scalawags outside of jail. The heavy-set one claims to be Pastor Peter Martinus, but he's snore more entitled to wear his collar backwards than I am. To other one is Prof. Artemus Thumb, and heaven only knows what his real name is.'"

Susan Flint went wholly Western. She extended a bony hand. "Put her there!" she said loudly. "Always glad to shake the hand of a sharper or a dealer in green goods."

Madame gave them no time to respond. "They snuggled up to me on the train," she said, "aimed to balk the fathead widow of a Texas millionaire. I eluded 'em in Chi. Took a plane."

"How rich are you, Susan?" "Me? My pa left me well fixed."

"Madame," said Pastor Martinus very softly, "your conversation endears you to me. Your sense of humor is delightful."

"It don't seem to tickle the professor," she said with a broad grin. "He looks like he could bite nails."

"The professor," said Martinus, "is not so amiable as I."

"In account," Madame said, "of fraternizin' with evil spirits."

A REMINDER . . .

Now the election day is over, let's get together, work together and help our Hope School System with her financial problems. Our two Democratic office holders, the Tax Assessor and State Representative Can help us a great deal if they really want to.

Did you know that our State Representative ranks high in both houses in seniority and committee standings. It is very pitiful on the way he treated our schools, his indifferent attitude towards the future and welfare of our school children. He Can swing both houses in favor of the school children through his seniority and influence, if he wants to.

Don't forget the pitfalls our school may suffer from her financial problems including:

1. Possible early closing of school — a fractional part of a credit will be given per course per pupil instead of a full credit, regardless of the grade earned. A fractional credit will not be accepted by colleges and universities as an entrance requirement!
2. Possible loss of NCA (North Central Association) rating. That will mean less state aid and further hardship financially.
3. May have to call for volunteer collection, donations, and pledges to help carry the school on her full term. Many people are not financially able to help out.
4. Remember back in 1951 when many schools closed early. Do not let this happen to our school.

Sunday - Monday at Saenger

CARY GRANT AND DORIS DAY STAR IN "THAT TOUCH OF MINK" in the most hilarious affair that ever matched an irresistible force against an immovable object! Gig Young and Audrey Meadows also star in this uproarious, adult sophisticated comedy.

Coming Soon to Saenger

Jim Hutton becomes a war casualty when he is hit by a baseball during an intra-service game in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's comedy, "The Horizontal Lieutenant," in which he stars with Paula Prentiss and Jack Carter. Here Miss Prentiss ministers to the victim. Jim Backus, Charles McGraw and Miyoshi Umeki also play leading roles in the CinemaScope and color attraction.

NCAA, AAU Study Truce Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—A government-proposed truce is under consideration by the two powerful groups battling over control of U.S. amateur athletics and will be discussed further at a meeting here next Monday.

Officials of both the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union had confirmed today that the principles for a possible agreement were outlined at a meeting in Washington late last month. The Washington meeting, it has been persistently reported, was arranged at the urging of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in the interest of avoiding a continued conflict that could weaken U.S. teams for the 1964 Pan American Games and the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo.

While Kennedy has refused to confirm or deny the report, saying only that he is interested in a settlement of the 24-year squabble, a Justice Department spokesman confirmed Thursday the attorney general's participation.

Writing in the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune, Ed Schoenfeld quoted Ed Grubman of the Justice Department: "Yes, the attorney general was at the meeting. He told those in attendance that he feels this dispute is detrimental and harmful to our athletic program, our participation in the Olympic Games and in our exchange program of athletes with other countries."

Schoenfeld also wrote that Kennedy is attempting to rearrange his schedule so that he can attend Monday's meeting here. He has a speech scheduled in Albany, N.Y., that night.

The NCAA controls college track and field, the chief supplier of Olympic talent. The AAU, which has international recognition, is the only U.S. body that can certify athletes for international competition. Because of its dissatisfaction with AAU procedures, the NCAA has headed up the formation of U.S. federations in basketball, baseball and gymnastics as well as in track and field. The federation movement, in which the AAU has refused to take part, eventually will seek international recognition now held by the AAU.

Jim Grizzlie Is Tops Defensively

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—End Jim Grizzlie, the confident junior letterman from Fort Smith, is tops in defense among the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Grizzlie has assisted on 51 tackles, taken down seven runners without aid, broken up one pass, intercepted one and recovered three fumbles for a total of 74 defensive points.

His nearest rival is Dave Walston, a linebacker, who has 35 assists, eight tackles, one fumble recovery and three passes broken up.

Russian Cage Team Is the Best Yet

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—"This is the best Russian team I've ever seen."

Bud Browning, coach of the United States men's basketball all-stars, was reflecting on the improved performance of the Soviet Union squad. The Americans, composed of AAU players, were hard-pressed to edge the Soviets 70-66 in Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

The game, played under international rules, was the Soviets' first in their eight-game tour of the United States. The teams meet next at the University of Maryland Saturday night.

In the opening game of the twinned, the Soviet national girls' team turned back the Nashville Business College, women's AAU champions, 59-57, in double overtime.

"Things will get tougher right along," added Browning. The Bartlesville Oilers' coach admitted, "The Russians are shooting better and they've become far more aggressive, especially off the boards."

Six members of the Soviet squad played on the team which finished second to the U.S. in the 1960 Olympics.

The victory was America's 19th in 21 games in international competition with the Soviet Union since the inauguration of the exchange series between the countries in 1958.

Stjepan Spandarian, head coach of the USSR club, was disappointed with the result and through an interpreter, said he wouldn't talk about the game.

State Loses Key Committee Posts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Despite the smashing vote given Arkansas Democrats Tuesday, the state will lose positions on some important committees in Washington.

Two of Arkansas' congressional representatives are not returning to the nation's capital — Dale Alford and Mrs. Catherine Norrell, whose districts were reapportioned.

Mrs. Norrell was a member of the House Appropriations Committee and Alford was a member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Because their districts were absorbed by other districts, the positions held by Mrs. Norrell and Alford will be given to other representatives. The assignments will not be made until Congress meets and organizes in January.

Dies in Wreck

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Billy Thomas Barker, 42, of near El Dorado, died Thursday at an El Dorado hospital of injuries suffered last Friday when the road machine he was operating collided with an automobile on U. S. Highway 82 west of here. The car was driven by R. E. Horne of Mount Holly. Horne and his wife were injured.

Writing in the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune, Ed Schoenfeld quoted Ed Grubman of the Justice Department: "Yes, the attorney general was at the meeting. He told those in attendance that he feels this dispute is detrimental and harmful to our athletic program, our participation in the Olympic Games and in our exchange program of athletes with other countries."

Bowl Favored Teams Have Rough Row

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

Northwestern and Southern California, the nation's top two college football teams and the leading contenders for the Rose Bowl, have their work cut out for them Saturday and each is well aware of it.

Northwestern, unbeaten and ranked No. 1 in the country, has only to look at the early line to find out about the sentiment on its game with Wisconsin: The Wildcats are favored by only a half point.

"We know Stanford can be dangerous. Michigan State and UCLA discovered that."

Southern Cal, winner of six straight, is a 12½ point favorite over Jack Curcio's lads from Palo Alto, but that's about the margin Stanford was supposed to lose by against Michigan State and UCLA—and it beat both.

While Stanford has little to gain but satisfaction in the spoils role, Wisconsin has more than enough incentive in its match with Northwestern. The Badgers, if they get by the Wildcats, would be the No. 1 candidate for the visiting spot in the Rose Bowl.

Wisconsin is ranked eighth in the nation on a 5-1 season record. The rest of the Top Ten would appear to have easier going, but it should be noted that there have been a flock of full-blown upsets every week this season.

One of the more interesting matches could be the Alabama (No. 3 and 7-0) game with Miami (6-1). That one features a passing duel between Alabama sophomore Joe Namath and Miami's George Mira. Alabama, possessing one of the country's best defenses, is a 13-point favorite and a leading contender for either the Sugar or Orange Bowl.

Texas, ranked fifth in the country, and possessing a 6-0-1 record, is favored by 7½ over Baylor, which has won only one. The Longhorns led the Southwest and have their eye on the Cotton Bowl.

Should they stumble, however, Arkansas is likely to get the spot. The Razorbacks are ranked sixth, have a 6-1 record and are a two-touchdown choice over Rice.

Sit-in Resumed, Countr Closes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The second non-violent sit-in demonstration in two days was staged Thursday at a lunch counter in the F. W. Woolworth Co. store in downtown Little Rock.

About 50 Philander Smith College students filed into the store and sat down in some of the 60 seats lining the counter, which was then closed until they left.

Ten Negroes staged a similar demonstration Wednesday.

The sit-ins were the first in two years. One of the 20 students arrested during periodic demonstrations between March and November 1960, Charles Parker, was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail.

Parker's case is pending before the Arkansas Supreme Court. Trials for the others have been postponed until his appeal is decided.

Publication to Be Resumed LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The University of Arkansas Medical School publication, the Medical, has been authorized to resume publication, Dean Winston K. Shorey said Thursday.

Publication was suspended Oct.
